

EVERYTHING YOU NEED TO KNOW ABOUT TRANSPORTING CANNABIS BY CAR

With open container laws varying from state to state, as well as adult-use and medical-only states, it is important that patients know how to safely and correctly transport their medical cannabis by car.

To begin, think of how you would normally transport legal alcohol in your state. Utilizing your trunk is generally the best option. Tossing your cannabis in the front seat could easily land you a fine or worse, depending on the laws in your state.

Some things to keep in mind while transporting your medicine:

- Never possess over the legal amount allowed in your state
- Do not remove or open any of the original packaging or labeling
- Do not consume cannabis while operating a motor vehicle

What we recommend:

Better safe than sorry is what we always say! At MyMarijuanaCards, we recommend investing in a lockbox or lock envelope to store your medical cannabis in while driving. Just like alcohol, we recommend utilizing the trunk space in your vehicle for transporting your cannabis in one of the recommended secured storage methods.
